DIPHTHERIA

"Diphtheria is a disease of the winter months. It is seen almost entirely in children. It is characterized by the formation of a leathery membrane which forms over the tonsils and back part of the throat. Sometimes the membrane extends into the nostrils but is seen rarely in other parts of the body, especially on an open wound or where the skin has been broken," says Dr. M. P. Ravenel, Prof. of Preventive Medicine at the University of Missouri.

"It is extremely contagious. The germs are thrown off in the secretions from the mouth and nose, and are found in the membrane. The germ which grows in the membrane forms one of the most powerful poisons known, and this is absorbed into the general system producing general illness and death.

"Occasionally, the membrane forms only in the larynx causing what used to be called membranous croup, which is now known to be laryngeal diphtheria. It is much more fatal than the other types of the disease because the membrane is apt to slough and produce asphyxiation. A positive diagnosis is made quickly by rubbing a cotton swab over the edge of the membrane. At the laboratory this is allowed to grow over night on solidified blood serum. The appearance of the germs is very characteristic. Physicians should not wait for this diagnosis if the membrane is apparent in the throat and the symptoms of the child indicate the disease.

"One of the greatest medical discoveries of the time was made independently by Behring in Germany and Roux in Paris, namely, diphtheria antitoxin. This is an almost certain cure of the disease when used in time. Formerly upwards of 43 children out of every one hundred who had diphtheria died. With the use of antitoxin this rate has fallen down to 5 or 6 when it is used in time. The earlier antitoxin can be administered in the disease, the better the results. There are no ill effects from antitoxin, and it has proven one of the greatest blessings to mankind ever discovered.

"In a family where there are several children, and one contracts the disease, an immunizing dose of antitoxin should be given to the others. This will protect them from contagion.

"We have now a test named after its inventor Professor Schick, by means of which we can tell whether or not a person is liable to contract diphtheria. It is very valuable in schools and large institutions and especially among children."

12,000 GRAPE VINES ORDERED

Sarcosie, Mo., November 2.—John Landers, secretary of the Sarcosie Fruit Growers' Association, has announced that more than 12,000 grape vines have been ordered for setting this year, and that the acreage in this county is to be greatly increased over that of last year. More than 100 acres are to be set out this fall. A meeting of the association will be held November 18, when the local situation will be discussed and the grape cuttings distributed among the growers.

At least enough acreage is to be put out to guarantee car lot shipments, but even a greater volume of production than first planned is expected.

ANNUAL MEETING
SHORTHORN BREEDERS

The annual meeting of the Ozark Shorthorn Breeders Association will be held at Aurora, Mo., November 28 at 12:30 o'clock, in the city hall. The Association will elect president, vice president, secretary and treasurer and two executive committeemen. They will make arrangements for a spring sale.

"The upward trend of good Shorthorn cattle on the block, their easy fitting and the wide range between good and scrub cattle should encourage each member to attend the meeting," said Clint Marbut, secretary of the association. "There is a big margin in putting cheap feed into cattle at the present time."

W. L. Allen is president of the association and Clint Marbut is secretary-treasurer.

ROYAL AUCTIONS ARRANGED

Another array of cattle, hogs and sheep will be offered at auction during the American Royal, the largest pure bred live stock show of the west at Kansas City, November 18 to 25th. Special importance is attached this year to the sale of Shorthorn and Hereford cattle and Spotted Poland China Hogs.

The new sale pavilion, one of the most elaborate buildings of its kind in America, will be dedicated on November 22. W. A. Cochel, Western Field representative of the Shorthorn association and R. J. Kinzer, Secretary of the American Hereford Association will have charge of the two big cattle sales.

Homer L. Faulkner, President of the National Spotted Poland China Record, will direct a special sale of that breed of swine. P. M. Gross of Kansas City, will auction the cattle and Thomas E. Deen will auction the car lot swine. These sales are attracting much attention all over the western territory and thousands of breeders will attend. The Royal sales this year, will, according to officers in charge be the most attractive ever offered.

The Royal Show, promises to be the biggest event of the year in live stock exhibition. According to those who are interested in the affair it will out-class the National Swine Show and be of greater importance to breeders than the International, scheduled for the first week in December.

BIG TOBACCO YIELD

W. A. Mitchell, three miles east of Tipton Ford on the east Neosho road, has grown 1,000 pounds of tobacco this year on one acre of ground. He believes this to be more profitable than any other crop, but is having some difficulty in marketing it. Burley tobacco makes good yields on the Ozark soils and there is not much more care required than for many other crops.

This is the first year that Mitchell has grown tobacco. His wife a native of Kentucky, was reared in the tobacco growing sections and directed her husband in the production of the crop. He expects to grow more tobacco and to encourage his neighbors to do so.

SHOPMEN ASK DISMISSAL OF RESTRAINING ORDER

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Opposite views on the present status of the shop crafts strike were presented today before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, counsel for the shopmen contending that the strike no longer exists, while Assistant Solicitor General Blackburn Esterlin, representing the government, filed affidavits that the condition complained of when the bill was filed still exists.

Further hearing of the case was continued until Wednesday morning when the attorney will resume his argument and denial of the five points on which Donald R. Richberg, attorney for the shopmen sought dismissal of the temporary restraining order.

Because of the fact that a number of railroads (about 125) have signed agreements terminating the strike, and that the settlement of the strike now is up to the chairman of system federation and not the national officers of the organization, Mr. Richberg, urged, further continuance of the injunction is "useless and desirable to the administration of the justice."

RAILROADS TO AID CLAREMORE

Springfield, Nov. 7.—The Frisco and the Missouri Pacific railroads have assured city officials of Claremore that they will assist in advertising the fact that the radium water found in the springs of Claremore is possessed of medicinal qualities said to benefit persons afflicted with various ailments, including rheumatism and diabetes.

The Claremore Commercial club is shortly to begin advertising the waters, an analysis of which shows them superior, it is said, to those of many other so-called health springs.

To enable quick trips to Claremore by motor the Commercial club is to be co-operated with by Tulsa, Miami and other cities in constructing a network of good roads throughout northeastern Oklahoma.

MUSIC CLUB

The second meeting of the Music Club this season was held in the home of Mrs. J. W. Patterson, No. 706 Frisco avenue, Monday afternoon. Every member was present with the exception of two. The Club is very enthusiastic and more interest has been displayed this season than ever before. The programs scheduled for the winter are very interesting and the member in charge of each of them is working diligently for its success.

The meeting opened with a business session and a report of the committee. At the preceding meeting plans were made to organize a Choral Club and a committee composed of Mrs. J. C. Percy Johnson and Mrs. Walter C. Bray was appointed to select a place in which the Club could practice and also give the concerts. The committee reported that they secured the auditorium of the Methodist Episcopal church. Another committee comprising of Mrs. J. W. Patterson and Mrs. F. E. Shaffer reported that they had secured the services of Prof. Marcus Peterson of Aurora to direct the Club. They said that Prof. Peterson had plans to present the Club in a sacred concert to be given in costume some time during the Christmas holidays. The Club unanimously voted to organize the Club and to give the concert. If successful it will be followed by other recitals.

Another interesting event planned for was a Christmas party to be given in the home of Mrs. W. H. Bradford, No. 219 Benton avenue, during the Christmas week. It will be given in the evening and will be an open meeting, the Club members to invite their husbands and friends. The President, Mrs. L. E. Lines, appointed a committee composed of Miss Fern Heyburn, chairman, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Patterson and Mrs. L. H. Ferguson to arrange the program for the occasion.

The program for the afternoon was then given. It consisted of Indian selections very appropriate for our Indian summer weather. Mrs. Patterson, most gifted of our local musicians, arranged program which was most unique and interesting. Mrs. Patterson puts her whole soul into her selections and renditions which both were displayed in this program.

The program was given as follows: Vocal Solo, "The Land of the Sky Blue Water" (Cadman) Noveta Brown, accompaniment by Mrs. Roy Brown; "Impressions of the Wa-Wan Ceremony of the Omahas" (Arranged by Arthur Farvet) Mrs. J. WOMEN WANT FEDERAL MARITAL LAW

Only Five Reasons for Breaking Ties Would Be Valid and a Wedding More Difficult.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Preparation of a bill establishing national marriage and divorce regulations for introduction in the next congress was announced today by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which has authorized Mrs. Edward Franklin White, deputy attorney general of Indiana, to draft the bill and a resolution amending the Constitution of the United States, if such a course is necessary to make possible a federal marital law.

Provisions of the bill would make marriage more difficult, the announcement stated, and would allow divorce on one of only five grounds, enumerated as follows:

Infidelity, incurable insanity, abandonment for one year, cruel and inhuman treatment or conviction of an infamous crime. Once granted, such a divorce would be valid in every state, but neither party to a divorce would be permitted to remarry until one year after the interlocutory decree was granted. The bill would provide also that applications for marriage licenses be posted two weeks prior to the ceremony.

BAND MEETS PANTLESS
TRAVELERS AT TRAIN

Rogers, Ark. Nov. 7.—Sartorially perfect except that both lacked trousers, Tom McNeil, popular local Buick agent, and William Cain traffic man for the Benton County Hariware company, were met at the passenger station on the arrival of the St. Louis train this morning by a large delegation of citizens headed to the local band. Two headless apple barrels with improvised shoulder straps had been provided, which were taken into the Pullman and slipped over the heads of the two trouserless travelers who were then escorted to an open motor truck which, headed by the band playing "Home, Sweet Home" and followed by automobiles containing a hundred or more citizens, paraded the principal streets of the city, finally disbanding at a prominent corner from which the two victims were compelled to walk to their homes.

All this came about because some miscreant had gone through the Pullman and purloined Bill's and Tom's trousers. Both men on discovering their loss sent S. O. S. messages to their wives to meet them at the station with an extra pair of pants, but the wives, as becometh women, let the news leak out, hence the reception McNeil lost $37.50 with his trousers while Cain is in the red $30.
